

Monday, November 26, 2012

Week 16

EOC Countdown: 12 days!

1. shakespeare took many ideas for historacle plays from a book from Plutarch a greek biogripher
2. in 16th century england theaters were rowdy noisy places
3. The crowds' sudden roar startled mark and I
4. Plexer: calmstorm

Tuesday, November 27, 2012

Week 16

EOC Countdown: 11 days

1. her or me should pick up them tickets today
2. antonys part is even better then your's
“exclaimed the actor”
3. theo, did you memorize the wrong part? mr.
mason asked
4. Just before marco falls, Portia shouted “watch out for the trap door
5. Plexer:

cal
cal
cal
cal

Wednesday, November 28, 2012

Week 16

EOC Countdown: 10 days

1. its too late i fear said the stage manager
2. in england during the 1500s, alot of plays were performmed in the courtyards of inns
3. People use to go to the theater as casully as we go to the movies
4. Plexer:

ANTICIPATION

Thursday, November 29, 2012

Week 16

EOC Countdown: 9 days

1. 3 of us had went backstage so we didnt hear the bus leave
2. its alright if yore lines don't rhyme
3. traditions develope overtime, not overnite.
4. Plexer:

PpOpD

Friday, November 30, 2012

Week 16

EOC Countdown: 8 days

1. my friend isaac earns overtime pay at work nearly everyday
2. theres a time to study and its now” mama said and she turned off the television
3. foolishly the young man shouted “i dont want no advise
4. at the funeral of rebeccas father a rabbi receited psam twenty-three from heart
5. Plexer: