

Tuesday, January 29, 2013 Week 4
(Add to last week's bellringers)

1. i really admire jerrys tenacity in the short story through the tunnel
2. i could never have forced myself to stay under water that long i think my heart would of exploded
3. Writing a autobiography is a good way finding out who you are
4. you can delve into youre passed and discover what made you who you are today

Wednesday, January 30, 2013

1. john askd do you think their are people who would feel gooder with a different name
2. it depends jolene answers some people are fond of they're own names, and other people would probly like knew ones
3. going to a school where teachers call you by a different name without asking permission
4. its not fair that the teachers felt they could rename their students

Thursday, January 31, 2013

1. whenever i hear the music that reminds me of the time we red about the titanic
2. Many people who heard that music did not survive I feel sad when I listen to it
3. if the man in the communications room on the other ship wouldnt of gone to sleep all those people might of survived
4. it was such a tragedy it could have been avoided

Friday, February 1, 2013

1. if i had been that reporter claimed jose id have found out the whole story
2. the whole truth is often hard to discover deirdre replied
3. ive been doing some research about whales
suzette told her friends
4. the sperm whales brain size is greater than any creatures she said